

The first president of the General Council was elected on January 15, 2009 among the six people from outside of recognized merit, not belonging to the institution, with relevant knowledge and experience to it.